NOW THAT GROUND-breaking ceremonies have been held for the $10 million office and shopping center complex at Bascom and Campbell avenues, even the most pessimistic should now be convinced that the development is slated to get off the ground.

Among those taking part in the ceremonies were two vice-presidents of the Bank of America and two vice-presidents of Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel.

Even the most callous observer will have to admit that with "brass" like that involved, the project has definitely passed the dream stage.

There will be some, of course, who will not be convinced until the steel girders rise into the air for the 18-story office building, "The Towers" and the foundation is laid for the Spanish-styled shopping-cultural center, "The Prune Yard".

That should come soon. The project is a joint development of Fred Sahadi and Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel.

In our estimation it is deemed to make a greater impact on this community than any other event in this area's history.

It will make such a dramatic change in this town that even the most visionary of us are hard put to get the picture into proper focus.

It is hard to wait.

COVERING CITY COUNCIL and other meetings week after week is one of the occupational hazards to which we have been exposed for more years than we care to enumerate.

Admittedly we get bored on occasions, for so many of them are repeat performances and are pretty routine.

Sometimes little "gems", however, enliven the proceedings.

Like City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan reading a letter from the Historical Society only to have it come out as HYSTERICAL SOCIETY.

Or City Attorney Joe Bonacina giving a studied opinion about the Baker Trailer Sales only to have it slip out as Baker SAILOR TALES.

Or like the crack Councilman Ralph Doetsch made the other night.

Ralph said that Park Commissioner Hank Cary was "off his rocker".

Ralph was not criticizing Hank's mental stability.

He was merely calling attention to the fact that the casters had come off Cary's chair and Hank was about to take a spill.

It certainly doesn't take much to amuse some people.

Does it?

But then how many meetings have YOU covered in your lifetime?

A RECENT PLANNING commission was held without a clerk present to take minutes, and Planning Commission Chairman Kel Young and some of his fellow commissioners were quite upset about it.

True there was a "tape" of the meeting but Kel, especially, felt that not having a clerk present to take notes and keep minutes was not the proper way to operate a commission meeting.

The regular clerk was ill and no replacement was available.

This issue over minutes brings to mind the fact that minutes do not have to be a verbatim recording of a city meeting, according to a ruling made some time ago by City Attorney Joe Bonacina.

The gals who scribble away at the council and commission meetings, from City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan on down, do a tremendous job of getting everything down that is important.

No one expects them to record EVERYTHING that takes place at the meetings.

We don't think there is that much paper available at the city hall.

And that was what Bona-

Officials mark start of Towers

Ground was broken Friday on "The Towers", the dramatic 18-story office building that will be located at the corner of Campbell and Bascom avenues.

The start of "The Towers" is the first phase of the unique $10 million office and shopping complex being jointly developed by Fred Sahadi and the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Company.

Around "The Towers" will be 300,000 square feet of retail shopping, architecturally designed by the San Francisco firm of Walker & Moody, in a rich, heavy and ornate Spanish influence.

"The Towers" will be the tallest multi-story structure between Los Angeles and San Francisco.

According to the developers, the structure is a prophesy of things to come and that within the next five years numerous multi-story structures will be developed throughout the Santa Clara Valley.

The developers report they have another project on the drawing board at the present time and anticipate a continued activity in the multi-story building development area.

The development of high-rise office accommodations in suburban areas is not a new concept, according to the architects who cite that it was pioneered in the southern California area with great success. The commute time to central downtown areas and the congestion and lack of parking in those areas has created an opportunity for imaginative

Committee asks help in passage of vital issue

Although the exact amount of the civic improvement bond issue for parks will probably not be determined until the City Council meeting next Monday, March 24, a citizens committee has already organized for the passage of the bonds in June.

Heading the grass roots group is Bill Podgorske, of 860 Virginia Ave., a member of the Parks and Recreation Commission, Mrs. Dale (Sharon) Scott, of 264 Radford Dr., is co-chairman.

At the organizational meeting last Thursday, various sub-committees were designated and an appeal was made to all citizens interested in the acquisition of park land for the central park to participate in the campaign, which will culminate in the bond election in June.

At the Congress for Community Progress last Saturday, members of the bond committee also distributed forms asking those interested in helping in the campaign, physically or financially, or both, to contact the committee. Those interested in serving in some capacity should call 378-2855 for further information.

The committee members stress that every effort will be made to get a cross-section of the entire community involved in the bond drive.

In October, 1967, a park bond issue for $850,000 missed by only 30 votes from getting the necessary two-thirds majority at the polls.

That bond issue included funds for the purchase of pro-

The City Council next Monday, March 24, is expected to set the amount of the bonds and the date for the election.

Congress for Community Progress backs park bonds, youth council

Campbell's proposed bond issue for park acquisition and development was overwhelmingly endorsed by the third annual Congress for Community Progress held last Saturday at West Valley College.

Recommended also was the formation of a special "youth council" to be appointed by the City Council as an official city commission.

The Congress also recommended that the West Valley College permanently locate in Campbell and suggested that the college board specify why a decision on that issue should not be made now.

The three recommendations highlighted the third session in which approximately 100 citizens participated in the five panel discussion groups held from 10 a.m. until noon and then endorsed the recommendations made by the individual panels at the general assembly in the afternoon.

The recommendation favoring the park bond issue came from the panel on community administration with Bob Stephens, city manager, as moderator. Others on this panel were Supervisor Ralph Mehrkens; Dale Scott; Dean

Senior citizens, park bonds, civic center concern Council Monday

Calling of a bond issue for June for park land acquisition and development and approval of the renting of a proposed 40-unit apartment for senior citizens under the federal-lease supplement program will probably highlight the City Council meeting next Monday, March 24.

But other items on the agenda, including the possible extension of property for the civic center, will concern the council next Monday in what is anticipated to be another marathon session.

The City Council on March 10 gave the green light to the bond issue for park land acquisition spearheaded by the Parks and Recreation Commission to forestall a 288-unit apartment complex being located on property adjoining the present seven-acre city-owned Rincon Park and a six-acre undeveloped school district parcel.

The owners of the property, Don Hiatt and Fred Zolezzi, and the developers of the apartment, Guild West, represented by Paul Frechette, have agreed to sell the property to the city thus necessitating the bond issue.

At next Monday's meeting, City Attorney Joe Bonacina is scheduled to present an agreement spelling out the terms of the purchase, provided the bond issue is passed in June.

At Monday's meeting also City Manager Bob Stephens is expected to present the cost for the minimum development of the park which will also be included in the bond issue, in addition to funds for the development of eight neighborhood parks on school grounds in conjunction with the school district and parent groups.

Including the cost of the land and the development, the bond issue is expected to be about $600,000.

On Monday also the pending appeal of the Parks

Community needs it

In June of this year the citizens of Campbell will be asked to approve a bond issue for the acquisition of park land and for the minimum development of the the property.

Final details of the bond issue are now being ironed out by a citizens committee, the Parks and Recreation Commission and the finance committee of the City Council.

Indications are that the bond issue will probably be between $600,000 and $700,000 of which $345,000 will be for land acquisition and overhead and election costs.

The Campbell Press heartily endorses this civic improvement measure. We are convinced that it is absolutely essential that this city reserve for park and recreational purposes some of the limited open space that remains within the city limits.

As most of you are aware, the necessity of the bond election came about when an apartment complex was proposed for an 8½-acre parcel that is adjacent to the city-owned Rincon Park.

The property on which the apartments were proposed was part of the area that had been earmarked previously for expansion of the seven-acre city central park.

Available also in this same general area is a six-acre plot owned by the school district which is also projected to be used for recreational purposes in conjunction with city property.

If the apartment complex had been allowed to be developed, the six-acre school district would be separated from the city parcel. With the school district property and the city's present seven acres plus the 8½ acres proposed to be acquired by the bond issue, more than 20 acres will be available in one location for recreational needs.

Obviously, that makes sense.

The developers and owners of the property that is being offered to the city via the bond issue are to be commended for "backing off" and allowing the electorate to make the decision.

On the other hand, if the citizens in June vote down the bond issue for park land acquisition, then there is nothing to prevent the apartment development from proceeding. That choice parcel will then be lost forever to the city for recreational purposes.

We sincerely believe it is of utmost importance to this community that the 8½-acre parcel, plus the 1.25 acre county area that is also available, be acquired by the city at this time.

In October, 1967, a park measure for $850,000 was one of the six bond issues that faced the electorate. Four of them passed.

The park measure received a thumping majority of affirmative votes but failed to get the necessary two-thirds majority by approximately 30 votes.

Had the measure passed then, funds would have been available for the land purchase and the present "crisis" would not have arisen.

The park measure in October, 1967 included funds for a community center that would be built

The community center has been eliminated in the new park measure and only a minimum amount will be set aside for planning and development of the area.

Reserving land for park and recreational needs therefore is not a new concept in community planning. After months of study prior to the October 1967 bond issue, a citizens committee recommended that $850,000 be put on the ballot for parks.

We maintain that, if a dedicated group of citizens in 1967 felt that reserving open space was important then, the need two years later must be even greater.

And the open space available is getting less and less.

Ironically, even when orchards and open land abounded in this area, people were park conscious, although nothing much was done about it.

In our recent progress edition the first issue of this community newspaper, June 7, 1895, was reproduced. An editorial in that issue emphasized the importance of a park for the community!!

And we quote from that editorial 74 years ago:

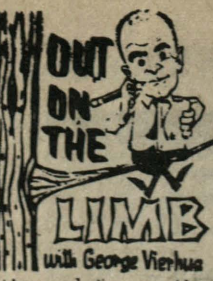

"...We are not blessed with natural picnic and recreation grounds as are some of the foothill towns of our county and steps should be taken at once to provide some such place for the enjoyment of our people.

"Grounds for a public park should be secured by some means and planted to trees and ornamental shrubbery. A start with such a place now would make it possible to have a beautiful attraction for the town in three or four years. A delay will only be a loss to us.

"No doubt a great many will say we cannot afford such a luxury and even if we could we have no town organization to secure and look after such a place."

Tempus fugit but the issue is still with us.

cina emphasized in his ruling. Naturally there will be times when the recorder may have to translate or interpret on her own some action of the evening.

And there have been times when such "interpretations" don't meet with the approval of the officials.

And sometimes they haven't even jibed with this newspaper reporter's translation either.

But those times have been rare.

While we agree with Kel that having a proper recording of the proceedings of a city commission is important, we don't think the absence of the clerk for just one meeting is going to foul things up.

Besides, Kel, there was an account of the meeting in The Campbell Press. We were there.

THAT PROGRESS EDITION of ours with those many old-time photos of Campbell and reproductions of headlines of the past and three pages of the first paper published (1896) in town continues to be in demand.

We suppose it could be called a collector's item.

Anyway we are pleased that we were able to furnish Neal Royer, a number of copies to be distributed throughout the school system.

They should prove quite valuable as background material in some of the classes.

INCIDENTALLY, ONE of the old timers, Bert Campbell, who furnished some of the old pictures that were used, recalls that there used to be a school located where the American Auto Supply is now, at Harrison and Campbell.

Bert said the school was sold for $50 and moved in about 1903 to a location on Winchester where it was converted into a residence.

We think it is highly important to recall some of those past events and that is the basic purpose of those old-time features in our big edition.

Campbell has changed tremendously since the turn of the century.

Yet we are convinced that the greatest changes are yet to come.

Even the most visionary of those old-timers never dreamed of an 18-story tower popping up in their midst.

As a matter of fact, how many of us new-timers envisioned such a project even two years ago?

A NICE FRIENDLY LITTLE note came from one of our mail subscribers this week when she renewed her subscription:

"I worked at Ainsley Cannery 'Till they sold to Hunts Bros.

developers to capitalize on these factors, all to the benefit of the community as a whole.

The developers also emphasize the role Bank of America, as a leader in major community developments, will play in the project.

The Bank of America is rated as the foundation of the initiation of the Park Center Redevelopment area and the developers maintain that without the Bank's cooperation, imagination and overwhelming faith in the future and growth of Santa Clara County, the project would not move ahead.

Occupancy for "The Towers" is scheduled for January 1, 1970, and it is actively being leased at the present time.

Lease commitments in excess of 40% on both the office complex and the shopping center are in effect.

erty adjacent to the seven-acre city-owned Rincon Park.

In January of this year, a proposal was presented for the construction of a 288-unit apartment complex on property adjacent to the city park and which would have also separated the present city park from a six-acre plot owned by the school district which also is planned for recreational needs in conjunction with the city land.

After a series of meetings, spearheaded by the Parks and Recreation Commission, the developers and owners of the proposed apartment development agreed to sell the 8.5 acre parcel to the city which thus necessitates the bond issue to raise the funds.

It has been implied, however, by city officials, at the urging of the present owners, that should the bond issue fail in June, the apartment complex will become a reality.

The 8.5 acres will be sold to the city for $34,000 per acre and an additional 1.23 acres, now owned by the county, which is also needed for the park expansion is listed at $31,000.

The owners have also asked they be paid $2000 per month for taxes and interest until the fate of the bonds is decided in June.

In addition, the developers have asked for $2000 to reimburse them for expenses already incurred.

City Manager has estimated that it will cost approximately $12,500 for the election and other overhead expenses, which means that $345,000 is the base figure that will be needed for land acquisition.

Members of the Parks and Recreation Commission, the citizens committee and city officials agreed last Thursday that funds should also be included in the proposed bond issue for minimum development of the central park property, as well as financial assistance for neighborhood parks.

City Manager Stephens was instructed to recommend such a figure to the City Council next Monday night, prior to the calling of the bond election.

pressed by the views of the community and many urged that the slides be made available for service clubs and other organizations during the year.

Those attending the Congress were given appraisal sheets to be filled out and returned for the "appraisal meeting" of the general committee tentatively set for April 13.

The delegates were asked for suggestions for improvement; what subjects should be included next year; whether the group discussion idea should be continued and for other comments.

Close observers of the scene indicated that many of those attending the third Congress felt that the Congress should not meet annually.

Others indicated that because only a relatively few citizens respond that the entire idea should be dropped.

Many, however, expressed the desire that Siden and his camera should return next year. Indications point to the greatest changes in Campbell's history will take place during the next year.

Chamberlin and Frank Kukuk. The "youth council" concept evolved from the panel on community youth which attracted the largest group of participants and at which student leaders, including George Akina, Janie Wong and Pete Gregosson took an active part in the discussions.

The recommendation that West Valley College find a permanent site in Campbell was made by the community urban affairs panel headed by Mrs. Dorothy Gobel. Representatives from West Valley Senior Action and United Arriba and Mayor Bill Smeed were also on the panel.

The panel on community education, headed by Bruce Stevenson, recommended that school and community organizations should focus more attention on the programs offered by the vocational center.

This panel also recommended that communication between the governing boards of the schools and the community should be expanded to allow for a better understanding.

The panel on community economic development, headed by Tom Snowden, and which included Bob Harrison of IBM; Don Kennedy of Bank of America and Don Callahan, CPA, endorsed the plan for an on-and-off ramp at Campbell Ave. and Highway 17. The group recommended also that street improvements be made by the city in the Dell Ave. industrial park area to attract more firms.

This panel also suggested that an effective selling program be undertaken by the Chamber of Commerce to attract desirable industry and that the city take aggressive action in annexing desirable areas that are not now city associated.

Although the attendance at the third Congress was poor, as was the case in the previous two that had been held, the participants again showed their dedicated interest in their community. They expressed the desire, even more so than in the previous meetings, that definite action was needed to be taken in specific phases of community affairs.

The Congress for the second time was under the general chairmanship of the Rev. W. H. (Ben) Gould, who, as master of ceremonies, kept the activities moving at a fast clip.

The special slide presentation, "A Stranger No More", of Bill Siden, of the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. took place at the general session before the panels went into session.

Planners recommend apartment zoning for area off El Patio

A triangular-shaped 4.25 acre parcel between the railroad tracks on the west and on the east by Highway 17 just north of El Patio Drive was recommended to be rezoned for apartments by the Planning Commission Monday night.

By a 5-2 vote (Kel Young, Dale Scott, Thayer Lyons, Ed Pack and Merrill Grim against Jack Healey and Frank Klein), the commissioners recommended that the present zoning M-1-S (light industrial) of the virtually land-locked parcel be changed to R-3-S.

But almost all the commissioners voiced concern over the fact that there is only one access to the property at the present time, a 50-foot width city-owned right-of-way extending from El Patio to the tract, a distance of about 200 feet.

The request for rezoning was made by Guild West, representing the owners. Carlos Anglin and Paul Frechette of Guild West told the Commission a four-story garden apartment complex with 152 units was planned for the site.

They emphasized that the proposed apartments would immeasurably improve the "image" of Campbell as seen from the freeway.

The commissioners emphasized that they were approving only the zone change, the access problem would probably be raised when the plans were submitted. They felt that dumping the traffic from the apartments on sub-standard city streets could create a traffic problem for the single-family residents in the area on El Patio, Poplar and Maple.

Mrs. Edith Morley, a resident on El Patio, told the Commission that she did not object to the apartment plans. She was the only resident to speak at the hearing.

The Commission directed the city staff to work with the developers in determining whether another access could be built over the railroad tracks to Selmar and Harrison.

In another action, the Commission approved: plans for a storage shed for Jack E. Horton at 800 Cristich Lane; plans for an addition for Vanderson Construction Co. (Joseph Giannini) at 1825 S. Bascom; plans for a 159-unit apartment complex for Valleydale Construction at 375 Union and plans for a warehouse for Reed Surber at 80 Curtner.

The Planning Commission also approved a use permit for Mr. and Mrs. David Murphy for a children's day nursery at 3225 Winchester Blvd. in a C-H zone.

The question of whether the present dwelling on the property when remodeled might be in violation of the present city ordinance prohibiting converting dwellings into commercial buildings was raised.

It was specified, however, that the use permit was only for the use of the property, any conflict with the city ordinance would be considered at a later date.

JayCees make annual award on March 29

Campbell JayCees at a dinner in the Little New Yorker in Santa Clara on Saturday, March 29, will announce the winner of the second "Distinguished Service Award" in the community, according to Nozer Haladwala, vice-president and chairman of the event.

The award will go to the young man or woman (between 21-35) who will be selected by a panel of three judges and the selection will be based on leadership qualities shown by a young man or young woman of the community during 1968.

Organizations and individuals are urged to send in their nominations to Haladwala, 5485 Leigh Ave., San Jose, or to contact him by phone (356-7295).

Nominees must either work in Campbell or reside in the community. They will be judged on (a) contribution to the general community welfare during the year (50 points); (b) evidence of outstanding leadership ability (25 points) and (c) evidence of personal business progress.

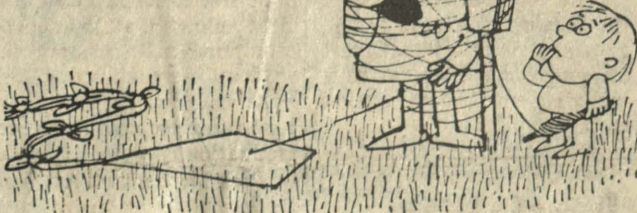

Bob Dalzell, now residing in Santa Maria, was the winner last year, the first time the award was made.

Those interested in obtaining tickets for the award dinner should contact Haladwala (356-7295 or 736-9330) or any JayCee member.

Speaker at the dinner will be Dr. David Barry, executive vice-president of San Jose College.

WHAT'S NEW

for the HOME

Windows Have New Ways To Dress Up Bedrooms

Do-it-yourselfers can give a bright new outlook to a weary bedroom by adding an applied floral motif to the present window treatment of cornice or valance, window shade and curtains or draperies.

This is a successful and economical way to avoid major redecorating, according to those homeowners who have tried it.

First, choose a vividly printed roll of wallpaper or a length of fabric that's splashed with a bold repeat. The bigger and brighter the pattern, the more exciting the effect will be in dramatizing the decor.

Study the pattern and decide how to use it most effectively on cornice or valance, window shade and/or curtains or draperies.

Large triangular shapes work out nicely for bouquets. Other sections of the pattern will lend themselves to a border treatment along the length of the valance. Still other fanciful shapes will suggest themselves, depending on the pattern.

Now cut out these shapes with a well-sharpened scissors. Next, decide where appliques will be placed for best effect.

To assure accurate placement, trace lightly with pencil the exact position in which applique is to be affixed. Adhere appliques firmly in place with a strong, translucent spray adhesive.

Potted Plants Add Beauty

The modern look of container gardens reflects the need for maintenance-free outdoor living. Potted flowers and greens of all sizes and shapes mean release from the drudgery of caring for extensive planted areas.

Container gardens are weedless and mobile. They require a minimum of care and can be imaginatively used to decorate any outdoor area.

Decks and patios used for relaxing or outdoor entertainment are natural for potted plant displays. An expanse of wooden fence or garage wall benefits, too, from the addition of a clay pot garden.

Before deciding on outdoor locations for container plants, the requirements of the plant should be considered. Some locations receive full sun, while others are semi-shaded. Plants should be placed accordingly.

Geraniums will thrive in sun-drenched areas. Potted mums, available all year round, also do well in the sun.

Right for shaded areas are tuberous begonias, fuchsias, or vivid cinerarias. They'll do well on protected porches, underneath a garage overhang, or in the shade of a tree.

Also attractive for outdoor landscaping are planter boxes and hanging baskets. All plants in baskets or planters should be kept individually potted in clay containers.

A planter box of mixed green and flowering plants makes a colorful window or porch railing addition, fairly dry.

Basement Takes On New Look

From basement "black eye" to handsome, functional recreation area—that's the history of many eye-catching home improvements, particularly for families with a flare for the dramatic.

Even the worst eyesore can often be converted into a striking room.

Several stages are involved in a basement modernization: Planning, financing, selection of materials, installation and finally, furnishing. Every step complements the other, and none should be ignored if the change is to be dramatic and the new room a joy to have.

A dry basement is a prerequisite. Waterproofing compounds are available. Padded walls should be backed by a vapor barrier, as well, and a dehumidifier may be needed to keep the room

Dale claims Carol as bride

MR. AND MRS. DALE BRYANT

Carol Lynn Branson wore a white satin Empire styled gown with a white lace overdress for her wedding March 1 to Charles Dale Bryant. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Branson of 119 Cherry Lane, Carol was given in marriage by her father. Bishop Hart of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Los Gatos Ward, read the ceremony.

A white rose bouquet was accented with baby yellow roses while her attendants were all gowned in yellow chiffon and carried white carnations with yellow roses. Serving as maid of honor was Gail Blankenship with Sherri Priddy, Linda Payne and Pat Smith as bridesmaids.

The lovely brunette bride is a graduate of Campbell High and attended West Valley College. She is now employed as a secretary at I.B.M. While in high school she was active in the Flag Girls and a member of the Honor Society.

Mrs. Branson chose a blue crepe gown with lace sleeves, bone accessories and a white rose corsage for her daughters wedding.

Dale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bryant of Merced, and is presently stationed at Mather Air Force Base. He attended Merced College before going into the service.

Dale chose Vic Thayer to serve as his best man and Myron Hendrick, Bill Allen and Bill Branson ushered the guests to their seats. Vocal numbers were sung by Carolyn Gorton with Bill Cooper at the organ.

Following the ceremony the newly-weds greeted their guests in the social hall at the church before leaving on a wedding trip to Napa.

The new Mrs. Bryant wore a navy blue suit with white accessories for her going away outfit. The young couple will be making their future home in Carmichael.

Campbell Schools plan Science Fair March 22

Kids these days come very well informed. If you don't believe it, attend the 12th annual Science Fair of the Campbell Union School District to be held this Saturday, March 22, at the Castlemont School, 3040 Payne Ave.

Approximately 250 entries will be on display covering such diverse subjects as "How To Fly Paper Gliders", which is the entry of a fourth grader, to "Plants That Cure", the title of an eighth grade project. Other interesting subjects are "Earthquakes", "U.F.O.'s", "The Apollo Project" and "An Ant is Born". This year for the first time, St. Lucy's school has accepted an invitation to join the Science Fair with the Campbell School District Fair, which should prove to be interesting to all students.

Four awards in each of the biological and physical science areas for grades four to eight will be awarded during the Award Assembly which will start at 12:15 p.m. The public is invited to view the projects between 9:30 and 1 p.m. Dave McLeod, principal of Castlemont school will open the awards assembly and the awards will be presented by members of the Campbell Union School District Board of Trustees.

Refreshments will be sold during the day by the Castlemont PTA.

There really is a "happening" at Capri School these days! The first leg of the Twelfth Annual Science Fair was completed last Thursday morning with the judging on the local level.

Three entries each from the fourth, fifth and sixth grades were selected to be entered in the Campbell District Science Fair, Saturday March 22, at Castlemont School. Judging was keen and the six winning entries were singled out from a great number of very fine exhibits.

The child's name and title of their entries are as follows: Fourth grade: David Stucky, chameleon; Richard Bréier, aluminum; and Kristen Aaring, hero's engine.

Fifth grade: Paul Weckler, seaweed; Pamela Hill, coral; and Julie St. Germaine, rabbits. Sixth grade: Barbara Wade, genetics and heredity; David Sino, water purification; and Barbara Schicker, bees.

The annual Spaghetti Dinner, sponsored by the Capri Home and School Club, will take place tomorrow evening, March 20. The public is invited to attend and share the delicious meal in the Capri School cafeteria. Serving time is 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. There will be a charge of $1 for adults and fifty cents for children twelve years of age and under.

In recognition of the Golden Anniversary of the American Legion, Campbell Mayor William Smeed signed a proclamation declaring March 15 to April 15 American Legion 50th Anniversary Month and joined other communities in commending the good works of the organization.

During the Friday night meeting Junior Past Commander David Buchholz and Post Chaplain M. New members initiated were Ed Nasiaka, Art Crawford, Ed Donahue, Ken Casebolt, William Broadstone, John Duckett, Terry Clark, Elwood Miel, Clarence Fox, Clinton Machado, Jeff Cockerell, Bob Highland, Joe Renner, Russ Andersen, Dallas Jensen, Jack McCarthy and Hilton Bird.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

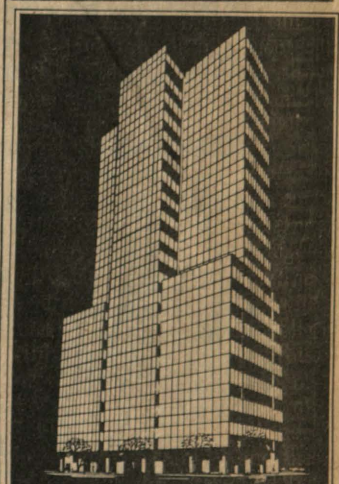

By Al Saliccia

Did you know that in the entire history of the NCAA basketball tournament, an Eastern school has won the championship only three times?... The only Eastern schools who have ever won it were Holy Cross in 1947, CCNY in 1950 and LaSalle in 1954.

Here's one to test your baseball knowledge... We're going to list four of the most famous managers of all-time... Then see if you are able to name the position on the field each of these men played before they became managers... Leo Durocher... Al Lopez... Walt Alston... Casey Stengel... Can you name the positions each played?... If not, here are the answers... Durocher was a shortstop... Lopez was a catcher... Alston was a first baseman... And, Stengel was an outfielder.

Girl Scouts

The week of March 12 is called Girl Scout Week as the first troop of Girl Scouts in the United States met on March 12, 1912.

Girl Scout Week is a time to thank the supporters of Girl Scouting: so Cadette Troop No. 13 presented (and planted) a Pine tree to the Congregational Church of Campbell where the troop has been meeting for the past six years.

The Cadettes are working on the Challenges of Social Dependability and Emergency Preparedness.

The Social Dependability Group planned the troop's Parents Potluck Dinner. The challenge group put on a "Snoopy" skit for entertainment.

The Emergency Preparedness Group took a tour of the Campbell Community Hospital and made arrangements for members of the Campbell Fire Department to visit the troop.

Engineer Jack Christian with the assistance of Firemen Garry Salmon and Mike Johnson presented the Mouth-to-Mouth Resuscitation Demonstration at the troop meeting on March 5. Each of the girls tried out the method on the Fire Department's "Resusc-Anne".

Barbara Mahler, Kathy Perston and Terry Vrevich demonstrated First Aid to Junior Troop No. 303 of Sherman Oaks School on Feb. 26. The Cadette troop invited their sister Junior Troop to attend the showing of "Finians Rainbow" at the Century Theater on March 1 with them.

Girls in the troop are Christy Castille, Trudi Davis, Karen Dias, Carol Gordon, Beth Killmeyer, Mary Kay Lee, Barbara Mahler, Maureen Narragon, Nancy Sandkohl, Louise Scanlon, Debbie Smith, Terri Vrevich, Debbie Weese, Elaine MacDonald, Karen MacDonald and Kathy Perston.

NEIGHBORHOOD 17

ing Day, the day each year Girl Scouts and Girl Guides all over the world link their thoughts around the earth that all people shall be friends, Junior Scouts of Troop No. 303 of Sherman Oaks School held a Scouts Own by candlelight amid green and white decorations.

After the flag presentation by Barbara Bettencourt, Luanne Elgar, Diane Lanoue, Kelley Shaw and Kathy Walker with Chris Butler doing the calling, the troop sang "Girl Scouts Together."

Cindy Rutkowitz welcomed the troop's special guests, Mr. Adrian Ciblich, school principal, Mrs. Sally Watson and Mr. Harrison Beavers, teachers, and Mesdames Anthony Giluso, Gerald Schlosser and Donald Walker, mothers of three of the scouts, and explained to them the meaning of Thinking Day.

Cindy told the group what Scouting meant to her and asked each scout in turn and the troop's leaders, Mrs. H.L. Wolf and Mrs. W.W. Leach II, to do the same.

The outgoing troop officers then installed the incoming officers. Each of these girls said a Girl Scout Law or one of the three parts of the Girl Scout Promise and blew out one of the thirteen candles. Stacey Schlosser and Judy Slater called on the Scouts who had earned badges and Mrs. Leach awarded the badges to the girls.

The singing of Taps closed the meeting.

Nancy Giluso, Julie Hanson, Terri McCoy and Lyn Preuitt served on the refreshment committee. Mrs. Virginia Preuitt helped the girls with the making and decorating of the cupcakes.

The planning committee, selected by the troop, consisted of Cindy Leach, Cindy Rutkowitz, Stacey Schlosser, Judy Slater and Kathy Wolf.

MISSION PROJECT--As part of the fourth grade learning program in the elementary schools, the students made models of the various missions using material such as sugar cubes, plaster of Paris, posterboard, wood, accented with rocks, evergreen shrubs and plastic animals. Shown above are two of the completed missions. On the left is the wooden model made by Margie Wilcox, 811 Virginia Ave., with the help of her mother, who sawed up the wood for her daughter; and Sharon Hackett, 849 Marilyn Drive, made from sugar cubes with a corrugated cardboard roof.

THREE MISSION STYLES--Exhibiting some of the various mission styles were the three models made by fourth grade students in Hazelwood school. L. to r. are Matt Medeiros, 2304 Montezuma Drive with a cardboard model of San Juan Bautista; Tom Christman, 773 Jeffrey, sugar cubes, San Juan Bautista; and Jimmy O'Donnell, 667 Albert Way, a combination corrugated cardboard and sugar cube model of Mission Santa Barbara.

DETAILED CONSTRUCTION--The all-sugar cube model of Mission San Luis Rey, constructed by Mindy Cleveland and Norine Failing

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that pursuant to Section 9333.6 of the Campbell Municipal Code, the City Council does ordain as follows:

SECTION ONE: That all the terms and provisions of Ordinance No. 660 shall from the date of adoption hereof, remain in full force and effect for a period of one (1) year or until such time as said precise zoning plan for said area has been adopted, whichever shall occur first.

SECTION TWO: This ordinance shall be and is hereby declared to be an emergency measure and shall be effective immediately. That the facts of such urgency are that unless said regulations on use of land, buildings and structures are not continued in effect, the continued development of this area for industrial purposes will be in conflict with the Land Use development of this area as approved as a part of the 701 program and will produce effects undesirable and harmful to the future residential development of the area and will impair the health, safety and general welfare of persons residing therein, as well as to the City of Campbell as a whole.

CLEO MUSLADIN

Final services were held today for Mrs. Cleo Musladin, 65, 461 Richlee Dr., who suffered a fatal fall Sunday at Pigeon Point, San Mateo County.

Mrs. Musladin slipped and fell down a 10 foot cliff at the light house point, and apparently suffered fatal injuries when her head hit a rock. Mrs. Musladin had ridden to the beach with members of her family, but had stayed in the car because of the slippery footing on the path to the beach. She apparently decided to follow them, and fell. She was dead on arrival at the Santa Cruz County General Hospital.

Mrs. Musladin was a native of Arkansas and had lived in California the past 31 years. She is survived by her husband, John J. Musladin of Campbell; two sons, Mathew Musladin of Sacramento and Anthony Musladin of San Jose; three daughters, Elberta Mouat of Monte Sereno, Vernal Dela Rosa of Sacramento and Margaret Powell of San Jose. She also leaves five brothers and sisters and 13 grandchildren.

Services were at the Cathedral Chapel of Lima-Salmon-Erickson with burial in the Oak Hill Memorial Park.

CHARLES GRAY

Final services were held last week for Charles W. Gray, 71, who made his home at 350 Dunster Drive. A native of Gilroy, he had spent most of his life living in Santa Clara County.

He was a retired sheet metal worker and a member of Sheet Metal Workers Union 309.

He is survived by a son, James A. Gray of Campbell; two brothers, Clyde Gray of San Jose and George Gray of Texas; two sisters, Mrs. Ora Johns of Dos Palos and Mrs. Anna Wurtz of Napa.

Funeral services were conducted at Williams Funeral Chapel with interment in the Los Gatos Memorial Park.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

The recent revelation by Senator Daniel Inouye (D-Hawaii) and his Armed Services Subcommittee that there were 53,357 cases of desertion from the armed forces in a single year made startling news. This was an increase of more than 10,000 cases annually.

It would be easy to conclude that military leaders have lost control over a wave of rebellion like that which has swept our universities. But a comparison with past years shows the situation is not as bad as it appears. The desertion rate last year for the U.S. Army was 29.1 per 1,000 men, not spectacularly above the 1952 peak of 22.5 per 1,000 for the Korean War. This is far below the high World War II mark of 63 desertions per 1,000 men.

Except for two points Senator Inouye's figures could indicate that desertion rates climb as hostilities escalate and casualties increase. First, today's desertion rate is ahead of the Korean War while the casualties of the two conflicts are roughly equal. Second, our forces of today include the best educated and most intelligent enlisted men in our history—hardly the stuff which characterizes deserters.

Regardless of comparative figures and rationalization that the situation is either bad or not so bad, the armed forces cannot ignore the warning in Senator Inouye's report. "Desertion," it says, "is an exceptionally serious offense,.... when men are fighting and dying or standing guard in crisis areas, it is a crime of 'extreme seriousness'.... against fellow servicemen."

Vietnam is the most unpopular war of our history and this accounts for many deserters who'd rather go "over the hill" than fight for a cause in which they don't believe. But this is a matter which military men can do nothing about. This is the concern of political leaders.

Perhaps the publicity about riots and the current crime wave have caused some servicemen to expect the same license in the commission of a military crime as seems to prevail for crimes against society. This may be a minor cause of desertion, but I hardly think it is significant. Certainly it is not something over which the military has any control.

I wouldn't attempt to pinpoint a single reason for the rash of desertions in recent years but I will suggest what is surely one of the causes—it is the low rate of prosecutions and convictions and a lack of consistency in administering military justice.

Last year only a fraction of 1% of deserters was convicted and punished. Usually the services played it safe by trying the case on lesser charges with milder penalties.

Military justice seems very inconsistent when a serviceman who deserts to the communist world receives only a four-year prison term, while a bewildered and confused G.I. who had been incited by left-wing outsiders to "sit down" in the Presidio stockade is sentenced to 15 years. Such inconsistency doesn't impress young G.I.'s with the seriousness of desertion.

If there is a lesson to be learned from Senator Inouye's report, it is that procedures regarding desertion must be tightened and the Code of Military Justice thoroughly reviewed.

Viking Sports

SAN JOSE OWNS

The depth of San Jose City College moved them past the West Valley swimmers last Saturday by a 57-55 margin. The Jaguars came through with only five firsts to WVC's six but scored six seconds and seven thirds while the Vikes placed only five seconds and three thirds. The teams split the relays.

WVC GOLFERS

A loss to Menlo 18½-11½ last Thursday in a non-league match moved the West Valley golf squad's season record to 3-4. However two of the last year Coast Conference champion Viking's wins have come in Camino Norte action to give them an unblemished conference record of 2-0.

KEDS WIN TITLE

With a 39-36 win over the Sacs in the championship play-offs, the U.S. Keds closed out the West Valley College intramural basketball season last week with the league title. The Keds ended with an 8-1 overall record while the runner-ups marked 7-2.

TRACKSTERS LOSE

Two firsts by Rich Dunn and one each by Dennis Fuller, Tom Poilott, Bill Jones, and Mike Tolar highlighted what was a rather dismal performance by the thin ranks of the West Valley College track squad. Santa Rosa sprinted to an 80-56 win last Friday to open the Camino Norte Conference season at Camden High School.

The surprise event for WVC was the 440 yard intermediate hurdles won by Tolar.

Tantau "A" team places first

The Tantau "A" swim team won their first meet of the Winter Metro Valley Swim League by a score of 263-130 Saturday at the Saratoga Country Club, defeating Mountain View.

The eight and under medley team, Matt McLaren, Mike McKenzie, Danny Kemper and Randy Armstrong set a new club record. Girls on the team were Jackie McLaren, Ann Gatlin, Michelle DeWitt and Jenny Kammerer.

Individual scorers of the day were McKenzie, McLaren, Armstrong, Stuart Ackerly and Bruce Armstrong in the eight and under group.

Michelle DeWitt, Suzanne Reinecke and Ann Gatlin scored in the girls eight and under with Mark Cash, Garth Seagrave, Mark McLaren, Arick Levine, Dough DeWitt and Kevin Penning placing in the boys nine to 10 group.

In the girls nine to 10 Lisa Sperling, Ann Handler, Roberta Ackerly all placed and Claudia Armstrong took a first in back stroke and Susan Carter a first in breast.

Placing in other categories were Kurt Dessert, Tom Sloan, Doug Demerelli and Steve Murray, boys 11 to 12; Debbie Nolte, Edie Armstrong, Sharon Hopkins and Debbie Bickham, girls 11-12.

In the 13, 14 group Randy Smith placed first in the fly. Others placing were Andy

West Valley College's ombudsman 'talks over' students' problems

West Valley College's Ombudsman, Michael A. Rivera of San Jose, is on the job "talking over some of the problems that arise within the student body" at the college.

The position was created by the West Valley College Board of Trustees in December to "help meet the needs of the disadvantaged and unmotivated," and, at that time, Mac Martinez, Spanish instructor at the college, was named to the post until a permanent appointee could be selected.

Rivera came to West Valley at the beginning of the current semester from San Jose's Woodrow Wilson Jr. High School, where he taught Spanish and art, but more importantly for his current post, was "active with groups, comprising 74 percent Mexican-American background" in "community relations, home visitations and public relations."

He came to the community college, he said, "because in all of these factors, the need in the college areas is as great as it is in the junior high school areas."

He is settling into his new task by "talking over some of the problems that arise within the student body, in such areas as teacher-student relationships, courses of study, grading policies—attempting to iron out differences that arise among students, between students and faculty, between students and administrators, and even those that may arise with the Board itself."

Rivera reports directly to the college president to avoid "red tape" in solving student problems.

He has dealt also with foreign exchange students, who are particularly sensitive, he finds. "Instructors, too, should be sensitive to and have knowledge of the particular backgrounds of these students, so that remarks that are not meant to be derogatory accidentally come out that way during discussions."

He emphasized that his work is not restricted to the problems of minority students.

"I am here to serve all of the students," he said, "particularly those, of any race or religion who are disadvantaged—for whatever reason."

He also serves as a "resource person" in conferences attempting to solve problems of the educationally disadvantaged, and as a consultant in a wide range of human relations activities.

Rivera is 44, married and the father of three children. He was born in Stockton and went to public schools in Santa Clara, attended San Jose State College where he received his A.B. in Commercial Art. He then served in the Army in World War II, seeing action with the infantry in the Philippines and service in Japan.

After the war, he taught seventh grade in the Guadalupe School District near Pismo Beach, and in the old Jefferson District in Santa Clara, before joining the San Jose Unified School District in 1957.

He received his M.A. in Spanish from Stanford University in 1965, and spent the summer of 1967 in Spain.

MAKING PLANS—Discussing the way he proposes to help students who come to him with particular problems is

West Valley College's new Ombudsman, Michael A. Rivera (left). Seated are Mrs. Julia Arango, Santa Clara and Clayton Chu, San Jose. Standing are Charles Carter, Campbell and Gary Olson, San Jose.

Property tax deadline hits on April 10

It is time to pay the second installment of the property taxes.

Unpaid real estate taxes amounting to over $100,000, 000 are still due and must be paid before the April 10 deadline to avoid a six (6) percent penalty, Edward N. Glaeser, Santa Clara County Director of Finance, reports.

According to Glaeser, the majority of tax delinquencies occur during the first year of ownership of property.

New owners are asked to determine what taxes are to be paid by checking their escrow papers.

In addition, they are cautioned to check the following important points:

— that the second installment of taxes may be unpaid because only the first installment was paid during escrow.

— whether the property owner or the lending agency is to pay the taxes.

— that property is subject to taxes even if a bill has not been received.

The Tax Collector's office suggests that to assure the taxpayer of avoiding the penalty, he should mail his payment several days before the deadline. The office is located at 70 W. Hedding St., San Jose.

HAPPY ABOUT IT—Herbert L. Reaves, of 505 Sobrato, indicates his pleasure at a recent City Council meeting when the councilmen voted to withdraw the proposed ordinance that would prohibit the storage of boats and trailers in the front or side yards. Reaves was one of the leaders in the battle against the ordinance.

PROTESTS—Charles Rose, former councilman who was defeated for reelection last year, at a recent City Council meeting went to the microphone after the Council had approved the park bond issue to announce that he opposed any city bond issue for parks.
